

Salute to the Next Generation

Wednesday, May 2nd 4pm

Jack Morton Auditorium
GWU Media and Public Affairs Building
805 21st St NW (at H St)
Washington, DC

Please join us in recognizing the next generation of public sector leaders: those already in government and students interested in public service careers. We will highlight the forthcoming Pathways Programs as an important new way for some of the best and brightest graduates to enter federal service.

You will be able to participate in small-group discussions on designing Pathways Recent Graduate programs in several career areas, including budgeting & financial management and cyber-security.

Federal human capital officers, students, recent graduates, current Presidential Management Fellows and alumni, and anyone interested in the future federal workforce are invited to attend.

Refreshments will be served.
